PERSONS WHELEGE, would respectfully request the attention of the Hongkong Press to the importance of having the Hair Cut in accordance with the latest and best style, and to the fact that the hair of the persons to be so treated is the fashion of the hair can be no fixed unerring rule, but that depending almost universally the beauty of the cut depends on the shape and contour of the human head and facial angles. A sculptural should be the aim and manner of the Hair. This fact is noted by the Hair Dressers, and they possess an inherent art in matters of taste, to elevate the hair in its inimitable style and expression. Of this
